MASTER OF ARTS IN RELIGION AND PUBLIC LIFE

Have you ever wondered if people have always argued about religion?
Is religion really a private matter?
Does religion shape attitudes towards economy, empire and environment?

Our MA in Religion and Public Life focuses on the study of social and political aspects of religion from the comparative, historical and contemporary perspectives. The study of both religions and public life will be approached from domestic and international vantage points. As such, while the degree focuses on religion, it has an inherent interdisciplinary approach to this topic.

Why pursue an MA in Religion and Public Life at Carleton University? Our master’s degree can be completed in one year (12 months). Our interdisciplinary program is innovative, provocative and engaging. You can explore religion and public life in a variety of historical contexts and religious traditions, around the world, from antiquity to the 21st century, and you can study with award-winning, internationally-recognized faculty. To find out more about research being conducted at Carleton, visit our website. Contact us now for an adventure into religion, politics, culture and the ways of the world.

DEGREES OFFERED
MA

CAREER OPTIONS
Faculty and two affiliated research centres, The Max and Tessie Zelikovitz Centre for Jewish Studies and the Carleton University Centre for the Study of Islam, work closely with the national capital’s religious communities, building relationships that extend around the world. Long-term collaborations with diplomatic missions and non-governmental institutions in the capital provide unique opportunities for research, educational partnerships and career options. This degree is a springboard for pursuing or advancing careers in public policy, community and cultural organizations and public service.

FALL APPLICATION DEADLINE
March 1, to be eligible for funding

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS
A BA (Honours), or the equivalent, with a B+ standing or higher in religion, religious studies or a related discipline. Students without a prior Method and Theory course in Religious Studies will have to complete RELI 4741 (Theory and Method).

carleton.ca/chum/religionpubliclife

CONTACT INFO
613-520-2100
religion@carleton.ca